THE FUTURE IS CHALLENGING US

We work to generate efficient and reliable energy by developing and producing oil and gas from conventional, unconventional and renewable sources such as wind, solar, geothermal and hydropower.

The development of the Vaca Muerta shale formation has made us the leading Latin American company in unconventional hydrocarbon production.

We produce fuels, petrochemicals and lubricants at our La Plata, Luján de Cuyo and Plaza Huincul industrial complexes, offering a wide range of products, with a strong business presence in the retail, agriculture, industrial and LPG market sectors.

YPF

We innovate

Technology is integral to all our processes. We face the challenge of consolidating an institutional model involving scientists and technologists and combining it with the operational and technical knowledge gained through YPF's rich history.

Along with Conicet (National Council of Scientific and Technical Research), we created Y-TEC, a company specializing in technology innovation and development for energy production.
